

sinclair broadcast is clearly just free campaigning for the Bush administration. I find it implausible that, given how close the election is, that this is a "news" feature.

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example how our public airwaves have been sold out to the big corporations.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
